SUGGESTIONS FOR WORK OF CHAMBER COMMERCE GIVEN

Committee Reports Returns on Recent Questionnaire.

An analysis of the returns of the questionnaire recently sent out by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce to secure a consensus of the members of the Chamber on activities the organization should take up, was submitted to the directors at their regular meeting this noon by the committee appointed to tabulate the returns. The committee's report was:

Your committee, appointed to analyze the returns on the questionnaire sent out and to outline a program of work, has reviewed the answers of the questionnaire as well as the additional suggestions received, which were not among those on the questionnaire which was sent out.

In the opinion of your committee, many suggestions which appeared both as answers to those which appear on the questionnaire and the additional list of suggestions as well do not properly come within the scope of the Chamber of Commerce.

In submitting the list below of suggested activities, precedence in the order in which they appear below has been given by reason of the fact that such precedence corresponds to the number of votes each received on the questionnaire, and this applies also to the additional suggestions, which were made which did not appear on the questionnaire. The list of these suggested activities follows:

List of Suggestions

1. Cooperate with, and develop as far as possible, every opportunity to secure the location of desirable manufacturing plants in Dixon.
2. Establish a modern tourist camp ground.

11. Cooperate with farm bureau projects.
12. Investigate the feasibility of city form of government.
13. Help organize calf clubs, pig club, etc.

Following is a list of those additional suggestions received which appear feasible of application in so far as the support and initiative of the Chamber of Commerce is concerned.

14. Time limit for parking, during business hours, on First Street from Madison to Ottawa Avenue and on Galena Avenue from the Bridge to Third Street.
15. Cooperate with the park board.
16. Cooperate with the school board.
17. Arrange and hold get-together meetings of the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce. It is the opinion of your committee that such meetings should be held at least once a month.
18. Cooperate with proper authorities in securing and assuring that the city milk supply be of recognized standard.
19. Further the placing of an appropriate Lincoln Memorial on the site already determined by the state for this purpose.
20. Stimulate and cooperate with the taking of a census in Dixon.

Included among the above suggestions are several at least which are of such character as to appear obvious; their inclusion is therefore necessarily made.

All-American Conference is in Session

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 15.—An all-American conference, representative of 62 national, patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations, was convened here today to coordinate efforts to eliminate radicalism and foster Americanism and better citizenship.

The conference, assembled at the invitation of Garland Powell, national director of the national Americanism committee of the American Legion, was called upon to plan a vigorous campaign against "the slacker's oath" and the organization advocating it, and to consider the report of the flag conference held here last June with a view to working for proper observance of rules governing use of the Stars and Stripes.

William F. METEOROLOGIST TO VISIT DIXON DURING WEEK

Director Clarence J. Root to Inspect U. S. Weather Station.

Clarence J. Root, sectional director of the weather bureau, with offices at Springfield, has issued a weekly crop report covering the seven days ended today. He finds that rain is needed in numerous areas for all crops in this section. Meadows and pastures vary while oats is backward. Corn is reported to be above ground in southern counties of the state but will show little progress in this district until much higher temperatures prevail. Winter wheat is in thriving condition in the northern part of the state and fair in the central and southern sections.

Mr. Root will make an inspection tour of the weather stations and substations in northwestern Illinois starting Friday. His itinerary will include the following towns: Tiskilwa, Henry, Walnut, Dixon, Oregon, Freeport, Mount Carroll, Morrison, Geneseo, Aledo, Monmouth and Davenport.

Black Gold's Stock Continues to Rise

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Louisville, Ky., May 15.—Derby stock of Black Gold continues to climb and predictions were made today that the diminutive son of Black Toney-Uscelt would face the barrier Saturday in the golden jubilee renewal of the classic public choice to win.

The splendid showing of the colt when he covered a mile over a heavy track Tuesday, to win in fast time from seven eligibles for the big race in a derby trial, came at a time when many turf enthusiasts were casting about for a new choice following recent eliminations of Sarazen, St. James and Wise Counsellor, winter favorites.

A heavy track and unseasonably cold weather probably have been a factor in holding down distance work-out of the derby colts, although several were sent the route yesterday.

RIGHT OF PRESIDENT TO PARDON IN CIVIL MATTER IS DENIED

Federal Judges Order Grossman Taken in Custody at Once.

Chicago, May 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The right of the President of the United States to pardon in a civil contempt case denied today in an opinion signed by Federal District Judge George A. Carpenter and J. A. Wilkerson in the Phillip Grossman case which was considered before the Daugherty investigating committee.

The opinion held that Grossman should be taken in custody on sentence of a year in jail for contempt decreed by former Federal Judge Landis. Grossman was sentenced for contempt in a prohibition case.

The two judges gave separate opinions but concurring in effects. The opinions of the Attorneys General of the United States in 1841, 1845, 1852 as to the President's power of pardon were declared by Judge Wilkerson to have been based upon an erroneous assumption that the President stood in a somewhat similar position toward the United States courts as the king of England toward the English courts.

"The power to pardon for contempt is the power to destroy judicial authority," said Judge Wilkerson. "Judicial authority is destroyed and the function of the courts is impaired by an act in defiance of the courts prohibition as by the refusal to perform an act until compelled by the courts."

Grossman never had been taken into custody and had never served a day when the presidential pardon came. "To allow such power in the executive is to strike a death blow at the independence of the judiciary," said Judge Carpenter, in his opinion.

"The power to punish for contempt is inherent in, and essential to, the very existence of the judiciary. If the president is allowed to substitute his discretion for that of the courts then the president becomes the ultimate source of judicial authority. The motion of the defendant, based upon the presidential pardon, to modify the order of this court so as to eliminate the jail sentence is denied, and the marshal is ordered to take the defendant into custody and an order of commitment may issue."

The "question to be determined has nothing to do with the propriety of the President's pardon," but with his right to pardon. "We believe," he explained, "that contempt is a genus of open disregard for orders of the court and that whatever the species of variety, defiance is involved, and that in no case, in the absence of clearly expressed powers to the executive, can pardon be granted to the offending party if punished."

"It has been urged that the President of the United States in the past under the advice of the various attorneys general, has exercised the power to pardon for contempt. "Prima facie such pardon power conflicts with the independence of the judicial branch of the government. The assumption of such power by the executive is an usurpation of authority because of the separation of departments under our organic law; because even the king's pardoning power was restricted; because a contempt commitment is not reviewable on an appeal except on the question of jurisdiction; because contempt is not a crime, and the power to punish it is not an exercise of crime jurisdiction, and because pardons are addressed alone to criminal offenses."

Leave for stay of execution of commitment for ten days to afford Grossman's counsel time to arrange an appeal to the supreme court was denied. Judge Wilkerson said, when counsel made the request following the decision, "I shall direct the marshal to do what he has already been ordered to do, take Grossman into custody at once."

Whetstein Will be Upheld By Jurors

The provisions of the will made by the late Edward Whetstein, veteran member of the police force, drawn during his last illness, were upheld in the court findings of a jury in the circuit court yesterday afternoon. William Whetstein of Chicago, a brother, sought to have the will set aside on the grounds that the former police officer was of unsound mind at the time the instrument was drawn.

Police Impounded Five Head Cattle

Oh, for the life of a police officer. The daily and some times almost hourly charges make the work all the more interesting. Last night instead of hunting for lost, strayed or stolen articles, Chief Van Bibber came in possession of five head of cattle wandering homelessly about. Aid was summoned and the herd was taken to a feed barn where they were held until the owner applied for his live stock this morning.

SAYS DEMOCRATS WILL CARRY ALL NORTH STATES

Vrooman Optimistic in Predictions of Coming Election.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Richmond, Va., May 14.—Every northern state west of the Alleghenies will return a Democratic majority this fall if the New York convention nominates a progressive candidate on a progressive platform, Carl Vrooman of Bloomington, Ill., former assistant secretary of agriculture, said here tonight in the first of a series of addresses which he is to make in the southern states.

Failure of the party to nominate a progressive, Mr. Vrooman said, would mean that the Democrats would not get a single electoral vote west of the Alleghenies or north of the Mason and Dixon line.

"The first important job facing the Democratic party," he continued, "is to reassume legitimate business. Strangely enough some fair minded business men actually think that because Democrats are against dishonest business, that we also are opposed to honest business."

"Both Wilson administrations did everything in their power to encourage, stimulate and boost legitimate business and industry of every known variety. It is a matter of record that the Wilson administrations devoted approximately three percent of the Federal appropriations to regulatory and punitive work and 97 percent to promoting industry, agriculture, business and the well-being of the people as a whole."

Mr. Vrooman cited as examples of constructive regulation and promotion the system of scientific grazing of forest lands inaugurated by the government, the establishment of regulations to prevent grain dealers from selling mixed grain as wheat and the check put upon the rotten egg industry in New York.

"While fewer special favors were granted to special interests during the Wilson administration than during any Republican administration," Mr. Vrooman said, "unquestionably more actually was accomplished by the Democrats to boost legitimate business big and little than was ever accomplished by any half dozen Republican administrations."

Moline Chorus Will Sing at Convention

The Svea Male Chorus of Moline, Ill., which is to sing at 7:15 next Sunday evening in St. Paul's Lutheran church is busy rehearsing the songs to be used at the convention of American Union of Swedish Singers to take place in Chicago next month, when there will be a combined chorus of a thousand and male singers from different parts of the United States.

There are twenty-two active members in the Svea Male Chorus. Their part was the opening feature of the National Music Week activities in Moline early this month, when they appeared under the auspices of the City Music Association. Next week they will give a concert in the Moline high school auditorium. They are frequently called on for local affairs.

FRENCH PARTIES DON'T KNOW HOW TO USE VICTORY

Winners of Election at Sea as to How to Proceed Now.

(By Associated Press)
Paris, May 15.—A coalition of the left seems less and less decided on what to do with the victory won in Sunday's elections.

"The Socialists, who claim the lion's share of the credit for defeating the bloc national, are beginning to show uneasiness at the continued absence of such men as Harriot, Painleve and Briand, who logically, they say should be at the helm."

The leaders of the socialist party, after yesterday deciding they would not participate in the government, changed their opinion when unable to find radical and republican socialist leaders with whom to deal, and have concluded to call a convention of the party June 1 when they will decide the question whether members of the party may accept posts in the cabinet under a capitalist regime.

Some of the more important socialists and radicals are rather severe on the leaders who remain in seclusion. They declare that the best active of these leaders, Harriot and Painleve, have now made known through friends that they are available candidates for such "inactive" jobs as the presidency of the republic and the presidency of the Chamber of Deputies; two of the most lucrative and uncompromising posts in the republic.

Mysterious Woman Blamed By Wife of Banker for Plight

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, May 15.—A mysterious Mrs. Holland is said by Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris to have given her the letter which caused her arrest Tuesday night on a charge of forgery preferred by her husband, Beverly D. Harris.

The letter, which represented Harris as informing another woman that his allegations against his wife were untrue, was the basis of an effort by Mrs. Harris to obtain a new trial of proceedings seeking to annul her marriage.

Mrs. Harris said Mrs. Holland had been introduced to her by another woman whose name she did not mention. Belief that Mrs. Holland lived in Detroit was expressed by Mrs. Harris.

Mex. Steuer, attorney, who represented Mrs. Harris, is no longer connected with the case. He said he wanted no conclusions drawn concerning his withdrawal.

RAILROADS PLAN SAFETY CAMPAIGN STARTING JUNE 1

Co-operation of Everyone in Preventing Mishaps Urged.

"It takes less time to prevent an accident than it does to report one." This, the slogan of the Central Safety committee of the American Railway association, is augmented by this, "Remember it is better to cause a delay than to cause an accident."

According to a communication received here by railroad men from R. C. Richards, chairman of the Central Safety committee, another safety campaign, similar to that waged last year for the prevention of accidents starts June 1. Circular letters have been sent to all classes of employees of the Northwestern railroad seeking cooperation in this campaign. It is desired to secure the assistance of all men working for the company in making this campaign a success and bring about a reduction in injuries and deaths resulting from accidents of this kind.

9,358 Killed in Five Years.
"During the last five years," the communication to Dixon railroad men says, "there have been 9,358 persons killed and 26,258 persons injured in highway crossing accidents on all the railways in the United States. On the Northwestern during that period, 302 persons were killed and 1,376 persons were injured. Practically all of these deaths and injuries could have been prevented if the engineers, after discovering the person or vehicle approaching the tracks, had kept their whistle open until the person or vehicle had come to a stop as required."

It is intended to have large placards printed, calling attention to this campaign similar to those used last year and these will be posted in several conspicuous places about the city and also at all grade crossings in the locality. Small stickers are also to be sent out to be attached to correspondence or used in other ways, which will call attention to the campaign.

Hope to Show Decrease.
"Last year the Northwestern had 66 persons killed, 251 injured in highway crossing accidents as compared with 69 killed and 246 injured in 1922. We sincerely hope this year we will be able to show a substantial reduction in accidents of this kind as compared with 1923."

"Attention is called to the fact that of the 66 persons killed and 251 injured in 1923, six of the killed and 63 of the injured were in cases where they ran into the sides of our trains, and 22 of the killed and 166 of the injured were in accidents at crossings protected by gates, flagmen, wigwags or electric bells."

The safety committee, it is reported, now has plans under way for a vigorous campaign for the prevention of accidents and every employee of the railroad is expected to assist in every way possible.

Rector of Sterling Church Has Resigned

Rev. T. M. Baxter, who has been rector of Grace church, Sterling, for the past year, and who is well known in Dixon, has tendered his resignation to the vestry to take effect June 1st. His final service here therefore will be Sunday, May 25th.

Rev. Mr. Baxter has accepted a call from the vestry of St. John's church at Preemption, Ill. In addition he will conduct services at Grace church, at Osco and Trinity church at Geneseo. Preemption is located eighteen miles south of Rock Island and the call includes free rectory and the gift of an automobile. The other two churches of which he will be in charge are within a short distance of Preemption.

Committee's Report Exonerates Wheeler

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 15.—A report exonerating Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, "from any and all violation" of the statutes under which he was indicted at Great Falls, Montana, has been submitted to the senate by Chairman Borah of the special committee which investigated the charges against him.

The report, which was signed by four of the five members of the committee, was confined to the question of Senator Wheeler's guilt or innocence. Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota, dissented from the committee majority's view as to its functions and reserved the right to submit a separate report.

Secretary of State of Illinois May Be Cal's Running Mate

LOUIS L. EMMERSON

Springfield, Ill., May 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state, will be urged to enter the race for vice president of the United States on the republican ticket, according to announcement today of intimate friends of the secretary.

A number of letters urging that his candidacy be boosted have been received at Mr. Emmerson's office. As the secretary is in Europe, the letters will have to await his return.

The middle west has "this office coming." Secretary Emmerson's friends say, adding that he will make an ideal running mate for President Coolidge. The vice presidential selection of the republican national convention in Cleveland probably will be a mid-western man and Mr. Emmerson's executive and business ability, combined with his personal popularity in the state, make him an ideal candidate.

CHARACTER OF DOG HEARD BY DIXON JUDGE

Figures in Suit for Damages in Ogle County Court.

Character witnesses in the Ogle county circuit court at Oregon Wednesday, were describing the habits of a dog formerly owned by Charles Vogler, Lafayette township. The animal is alleged to have been responsible for an automobile accident on the Lincoln highway last summer when Catherine Kane, Clinton, Ia., sustained serious injuries and is now suing the dog's owner for $5,000.

The bill of complaint alleges that Miss Kane in company with her sister and a nephew, were driving along the Lincoln highway when the dog rushed out and became entangled with the front wheels of the car, causing it to overturn. Both the women were pinned beneath the car and rescued by passing motorists.

The dog was killed by the impact. Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon is hearing the case. Attorneys Gardner & Gardner, Rochelle, represent Miss Kane, while Harland & Dixon are defending.

"UNDUE STRAIN" ON TREASURY IS REASON FOR ACT

Advocates Say They Will Make Effort to Pass It Over Veto

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, May 15.—The soldier bonus bill was vetoed today by President Coolidge.

On the heels of his disapproval of the Bursum pension bill because he felt it would be an undue strain on the treasury, the President sent back to the capitol for the same reason the compensation measure which would give free life insurance policies to World War veterans. Advocates of the bill immediately announced that an attempt would be made to pass it over the veto. On its original passage it received more than the necessary two-thirds vote in both senate and house.

The veto message, based on estimate of probable expenditure provided by the budget bureau, was addressed to the house where the bill originated and where the first test of strength must come in the effort to override the President's disapproval.

Second Veto for Bonus.

It was the second time in twenty months that a bonus bill had been returned to congress by the White House without presidential sanction. Late in 1922 President Harding vetoed a bill to give an optional bonus to former service men. It was passed over the veto by the house but failed of repassage in the senate.

By his action today Mr. Coolidge not only re-emphasized the policy of governmental economy he had outlined in vetoing the Bursum bill, but carried forward a trend of political faith announced in his first message to congress last fall. In that message he devoted exactly nine words to the bonus issue: "I do not favor the granting of a bonus."

Had Studied Measure.

The veto message today enlarged upon this policy at length, quoting the treasury figures on the probable cost of the measure and citing the fact that no provision is made in the bill for raising the additional revenue to meet these expenditures. Despite his previous firm conviction on the subject, the President had studied the measure carefully, had sought advice not only from the treasury but from the Veterans' Bureau and had waited to act until the last day but one allowed him under the law.

In the case of his veto of the Bursum pension bill, which was his first exercise of the veto power, the first test in the effort to repass it, came in the senate which refused by a margin of a single vote to override him.

Advocates of the bonus bill, however, including some of the republican organization leaders in both senate and house, declared today they were confident they could muster the necessary two-thirds in both chambers.

Show Down Next Week.

So overwhelming has been the sentiment for the bonus in the house that there is generally conceded. In the senate the count will be closer. The present plan is for a showdown early next week, with the house acting Monday or Tuesday.

The bonus insurance bill which has the approval of the American Legion, provides for insurance based on a fixed multiple of each veteran's "adjusted compensation," a term accepted in congress as representing the amount of pay which would be due on the basis of a day for domestic and $1.25 a day for foreign service. Those whose "adjusted compensation" amounts to $50 or less would be paid in cash in lieu of insurance. The bill was drafted as a compromise in the house and was approved by the senate with only minor changes. The President in his veto message estimated that payment of the bonus would commit the nation to an average annual expenditure of $114,000,000 for the next 20 years.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 15.—Veto by President Coolidge of the soldier bonus bill was regarded today as practically a foregone conclusion. "The President began preparation of his message to the house on the measure yesterday."

No announcement of the executive's intention was made, but his action in beginning work on the message and knowledge of his opposition to any drain upon the treasury were regarded as indications that he would not sign the measure.

House Overrides President.

Overriding the opposition of President Coolidge, the house today adopted the conference report on the immigration bill which would make July 1, this year the effective date of the Japanese exclusion.

The senate now will be called upon to act, after which the bill will go to (Continued on Page Two)

Toledo Man Speaks to British Rotary

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Torquay, England, May 15.—"When nations, like individuals, come to know and to understand one another, it will be increasingly difficult to embelish them with one another." Frank Mulholland, of Toledo, O., told the convention of Rotarians of the British Isles, here today. Mr. Mulholland is past international president of Rotary.

"Through Rotary mankind is finding means of substituting friendly accord among nations for orgies of fear, suspicion and apprehension," he said.
"Some day, Rotary friendship will make sunshine enough to drive up the tears of grief. Some day Rotary friendship will wipe the lines of adversity from the brow of commerce. Some day Rotary friendliness will suppress the greed, the ignorance, the jealousy and suspicion that today holds the old world in fear behind the darkening clouds of adversity."

Michigan Democrats Expect Quiet Meet

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Flint, Mich., May 15.—Democrats opened their state convention here today. Indications were that the session would be harmonious and that delegates would take no action on the wet and dry issue or other questions on which there were conflicting opinions.

It was tentatively decided by leaders to adopt a resolution favoring law enforcement and to send a delegation to the national convention, unopposed except to cast the "favorite son" ballot for Senator Ferris.

INSURGENT MINERS CONTINUE ATTACKS ON MR. FARRINGTON

Debates on Resolutions Expected to Occupy Several Days.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill., May 15.—Insurgent forces in the Illinois Mine Workers convention this morning continued to fight every proposal of President Frank Farrington and his supporters. They succeeded in delaying action on resolutions submitted by fifty local unions, demanding that the organization champion the cause of Alexander Howatt, deposed president of the Kansas Miners.

Extent of the threatened upheaval within the organization was seen here early today when delegates at the miners convention received the first report of their committee on constitution. Three major struggles in the convention are assured.

Expect Long Debate
Fifty-eight resolutions have been presented demanding that the president be stripped of his appointive powers, and that employees of the union all be subjected to election. This proposition, President Farrington said, would take more time than any other argument. Scores of delegates have come to Peoria determined to speak on the subject and the best estimate is that the debate will consume two or three days.

Abolition of the sub-district organizations, a proposition fostered by administration supporters have been proposed by twenty-five different locals, while thirty-one locals have retaliated by demanding that the district executive board be abolished and the sub-district presidents be constituted as a board to act in its place.

Other resolutions go still farther, demanding abolition of both the district executive board and the sub-districts. These resolutions assert that local committees are entirely competent to conduct arbitrations with the operators and settle their local disputes.

Anti-Klan Moves
Ten resolutions ask that district and sub-district officers be deprived of wages during strikes, and that they be paid the relief paid the rank and file and no more. Three resolutions would expel any member found giving aid or comfort to a member of the Ku Klux Klan, or reading any of the Klan's literature.

Thirty-five locals complain that farmers and workers in other lines have crowded the ranks of the miners and demand that stringent measures be taken to keep them out. They propose that initiation fees be increased from $10 to a minimum of $50. From an inexperienced bottom laborer they would demand an initiation fee of $250; and from top laborers with less than two years experience a fee of $150.

Two resolutions would forbid the initiation of any new miners except miners' sons.

Among others, there are three demanding that the practice of pushing loaded coal cars be abolished, and that the constitution be changed to provide that convention committees shall be elected and not appointed as at present.

Community Clubs to Visit State School
Urbana—A visit to the University of Illinois at a time when it is working in regular schedule, with an inspection of its laboratory and class room work is planned for June 11, 12 and 13 by community clubs about the state.

Besides the regular work, the guests will hear club problems discussed, will be free to visit their friends on the campus when they like and will be entertained with a party the first night and several "stunts" during the other two days.

The boys' tour is planned for the same time, and several communities have already begun to plan automobile tours to Champaign-Urbana at this time.

Kentucky Delegation is Solid for McAdoo

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Lexington, Ky., May 15.—The Kentucky delegation of 26 to the democratic national convention, was instructed for W. G. McAdoo for the presidential nomination, after his supporters forced adoption of the unit rule by the state convention which adjourned here after a session marked by great disorder.

McAdoo forces dominated the convention through a coalition with the state administration.
W. T. Hill, contending in behalf of Senator Underwood, made a vigorous speech against the unit rule, mentioning McAdoo's name in connection with the presidency.

"LET ME ENJOY"

Let me enjoy the earth no less Because the all-enacting Might That fashioned forth its loveliness Had other aims than my delight.

About my path there flits a Fair. Who throws me not a word or sign; I will find charm in her uncare, And laud those lips not meant for mine.

From manuscripts of moving song Inspired by scenes and souls unknown.

I'll pour out raptures that belong To others, as they were my own.

Perhaps some day, toward Paradise And all its bliss—if such should be—I shall lift glad, afar-off eyes, Though it contains no place for me.

—Thomas Hardy.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—Cracked Eggs.

A cracked egg may be boiled without losing any of the white if the crack is covered with salt.

Tarts and Patties.
A desirable glaze will result of your brush puff-paste tarts or patties with white of egg or milk before putting them in the oven.

Cooking Fruits.
When cooking fruits add the sugar when they are nearly cooked. If you cook sugar long with fruit it loses much of its sweetness.

Tomatoes for Lunch.
A delicious luncheon dish is made by cutting tomatoes in one-third inch slices and sprinkling with salt, pepper and flour, and sauteing in butter. Then served, a buttered poached egg on top of each.

Leftovers.
Combine your leftovers of meat, fruit or vegetables with gelatin once in a while and garnish appropriately. They are more attractive to the eye.

Poached Eggs.
It is a good plan to poach eggs in a regular egg poacher, which costs but a few cents and does the job neatly without a loss of the white.

Eat Vegetables.
During the first days of spring it is well to include many vegetables in the diet, particularly those containing much iron and medicinal value, such as greens, spinach, asparagus, and the like. Vegetable dinners should be instituted once or twice a week.

Baby's Things.
When traveling with a baby, put everything you will need for him where it is easily accessible and you can get it on a moment's notice.

A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin.

EAT AND—LOSE WEIGHT.

Three unsweetened stewed prunes with 1 tablespoon juice, 1 stuffed egg on toast, 2 lamb chops, 1 tablespoon green peas, 2 tablespoons diced carrots, 1 tomato sliced on ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons diet dressing, 2 tablespoons strawberry fluff with 1 lady finger, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 thin slice gluten bread, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 107. Protein, 26.1; fat, 27.3; carbohydrate, 521. Iron, .0191 gram.

Stuffed Egg on Toast.

(Individual.)

One hard boiled egg, 2 mushroom caps, lemon juice, salt and pepper, 1 teaspoon butter, ½ cup chopped spinach, 1 crisp piece whole wheat toast. Cut egg in half lengthwise and remove yolk. Put yolk aside and use for some other member of the family. Melt butter and saute mushroom. Add one tablespoon finely chopped spinach, salt, pepper and lemon juice and stir over the fire until thoroughly mixed and very hot. Put remaining spinach over hot toast. Fill egg whites with spinach mixture and arrange on spinach. Put in a hot oven for a few minutes to make hot and serve at once.

Total calories, 232. Protein, 4.6; fat, 10.2; carbohydrate, 84. Iron, .0138 gram.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Six large sweetened stewed prunes, 1 cup cooked cereal with 1 tablespoon sugar and ¼ cup cream, ½ cup creamed codfish with 1 hard boiled egg on toast, 1 cup cream of potato soup, 1 stuffed egg on toast, 4 button radishes, 1 cup cream of tomato soup, 2 lamb chops, 4 tablespoons creamed potatoes, 2 tablespoons green peas in butter, 2 tablespoons diced carrots in cream, 1 tomato sliced on ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons oil mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chocolate rice pudding with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 4 tablespoons strawberry fluff with 2 lady fingers, 4 tablespoons croutons, 2 dinner rolls, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 3396. Protein, 413; fat, 1599; carbohydrate, 1884. Iron, .0218 gram.

Don't forget about long cooking for hard-boiled eggs. If the egg is cooked just below the boiling point for 20 minutes the yolk will be dry and crumbly and tender and fluffy and the white will be firm and tender and the whole quite digestible. But if the egg is boiled hard for 15 minutes the yolk will be hard and rubbery and the white tough and leathery and the whole most indigestible. And it will take a very fresh egg about 30 minutes to cook "hard."

America as Strong as Her Women

Madison, Wis., May 14.—America will be as strong as her women, Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor declared in an address today before the Wisconsin League of Women Voters. Yet, she said, many women do not receive a living wage.

Such accomplishments in behalf of the army of millions of wage earning women, as the bureau has achieved, largely has been due "to the cohorts of interested women throughout the country who are fired by the desire to better conditions for their sisters in industry," Miss Anderson said.

The 1920 census figures, she said, showed that:

Over 8,500,000 women are working in remunerative positions outside the home.

One out of every five women is a wage earner.

More than 4,000,000 women are working in producing and distributing trades.

There are 2,000,000 married women in industry.

RADIO AMATEUR'S HANDBOOK.

By A. Frederick Collins, inventor of the wireless telephone. Revised and enlarged by Maurice L. Muhleman, technical editor, "Radio News." Profusely illustrated.

Interest and progress in radio increase so rapidly that the new thing of today becomes obsolete tomorrow. This, at least, has been true to the present; but indications now forebode a standardization of equipment.

Mr. Collins' book appeared among the first and has been accepted as an authority; yet at each new printing many minor changes have been found necessary. Now the text has been completely gone over again by a daily writer on radio matters who is in touch with every branch of the field. Among other things he has added a new chapter on the latest receiving

PINEAPPLE BOB FOR THE OLD-FASHIONED GIRL

The slightly old-fashioned girl who wants curls and the suggestion of much hair and yet wants to be bobbed, chooses the pineapple bob, illustrated here by Mary Jayne, musical comedy actress. Sort of a camouflage bob.

Hen Rides to Town in Auto to Lay Egg

Sterling—John Deets, known as the "mayor of Emerson," had a peculiar experience Tuesday. He drove his car into the city and had just parked it on Locust street south of Third street when he heard a racket in the rear part of the car, and then a hen began to cackle and flew out of the car, leaving an egg deposited on the cushion of the back seat. The aid of a number of people standing nearby was enlisted and the "hen that laid the egg" was run down and captured and taken back to Emerson. Few hens travel in automobiles and come to town to do their laying.

RENTS TO RISE NO HIGHER?

Rents for houses and apartments have stabilized—stopped rising—in three-fourths of the principal American cities. This is the belief of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, after a check-up. It accordingly notifies its members.

In 16 out of every 100 cities, the check-up showed rents are dropping. They're rising in only 10 out of every 100 cities.

This, however, may be only a temporary situation, not permanent. Queer things may happen to prices before long, rents included.

In May, 1920, after a long period of inflation, prices crashed and brought hard times. Or hard times came and made prices drop. Whichever you prefer. It's like the historic debate as to which came first, egg or chicken.

Then prosperity slowly returned. Prices started rising. Economists announced that a "secondary period of inflation" had started, running true to historical precedent. When this secondary price inflation runs its course, prices will sag again—if history repeats.

The tendency of prices, through the centuries, is to travel in cycles of about 50 years apiece. Prices rise for, roughfall steadily. Instead, they zig-zag up and down—much like the teeth of a saw placed at an inclined angle.

Up and down, up and down—gradually sinking to normal.

That's what happened after the Napoleonic and American Civil wars. Changed conditions may (or may not) prevent a return to normal. For instance, our country's tremendous gold holdings. Gold tends to keep prices up.

No one knows the future. One guess is as good as another.

The real estate association reports that, in cities of 25,000 to 100,000 population, rents now average $15 a room for a month in the best structures in the most desirable locations. Half-way grade of accommodations averages $10 a room. The bottom-grade rents for $4 a room.

In cities of 250,000 population and over, monthly rent ranges from 25 a room down to $5, with $10 a room for second-grade housing. There's not much for rent between the $25 and $10 grades. The real estate association says this is because any one who can afford more than $10 a room is satisfied only with the very best.

Apparently the only thing that can drive rents down is building as many homes as are needed. The housing shortage still is with us, though vanishing steadily.

BEING A SPORT YEARS AGO.

Do you remember when a wild evening's sport consisted of putting on one's Sunday clothes and taking a street car ride out to the end of the line and back? The conductor came along the step that ran full length of the car, and collected fares. The other side of the car had a railing to keep careless passengers from falling out while rounding a curve.

That sort of entertainment wouldn't satisfy a four-year-old child now. But it was great stuff, back yonder. There were no movies then, no radios—and even the horseless carriage was generally considered an impracticable toy that never would be used except by people with more money than brains.

The thrill of the old-time street car ride through the summer night was not altogether due to lack of other entertainment nor even to the exhilaration of fresh air that rushed through the open sides of the car and nearly took the passengers' breath.

The real thrill was because the street car was still a novelty, just coming into widespread use.

It's only 36 years ago this May that the electric street car was "born." Many cities claim the honor. But it was in Richmond, Va., that the first commercially successful electric overhead trolley car made its initial trip.

A general or so before Thomas Davenport constructed a toy street car that ran around a circular track. Never heard of Tom? All he did was invent the electric motor.

Two Germans built an electric trolley line a third of a mile long, at the Berlin Exposition in 1879. Next year a small line, for public use at a fixed fare, was operated near Berlin. But it failed financially.

Americans meantime were busy, several cities experimenting. Richmond, Va., had the first "honest-to-goodness" electric trolley line, according to the American Electric Railway Association.

From then on, the old-time horse car was doomed. Today the electric railway industry carries 16 billion passengers a year and represents an investment of six billion dollars.

It seems incredible that all this has come about in 36 years. We'd like to turn the clock back and get a "kick" out of such simple amusement as a trolley ride. The world changes fast in our generation and the novelty of the new quickly becomes commonplace and boring.

BETTER SPELLERS.

Business men looking for stenographers who can spell should turn to Kansas. That state has a spelling match coming on next fall at Topeka, and high school pupils throughout the commonwealth are already busy devouring dictionaries and spelling books, passing tests and trying out in spelling matches.

At one such match held recently at Salina thirteen pupils spelled against each other. At the end of the first hour ten of them had been vanquished. The remaining three were still going at the end of three hours. No word had stumped them when their mothers decided to break up the party because of the nervous tension and long concentration. The match is to be continued a little later on, when Lawrence and Margaret and Lois will struggle for a decisive victory.

Perhaps the competitive phase of the Kansas spelling contest has some bad features, but it need not be so. On the other hand, an interest in correct spelling that involves all the high schools of a state is a very fine thing. Perhaps the ability to spell words correctly is not so important as the ability either to use them or understand them. But the three things go together to some extent, and all of them need to be emphasized in this day of slang and phonetic advertising names and slogans.

HORSES AGAIN.

They're building livery stables in New York City. The horse is coming back, increasingly being used instead of motor trucks. This is a result of traffic congestion, moving slowly and halted a considerable part of the time at street intersections while traffic flows the other way. Then, too, there's delay standing in line waiting for turn to unload cargo.

A wagon and team of horses represents less investment than a truck, some experts claim. They say it costs six cents a minute when a truck stands idle in the street, compared with three cents for a horse-drawn vehicle. Three-fourths of New York's freight is now handled by horses.

Never judge a man's religion by what he says when his safety razor cut his nose off.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton
NO. 4—OPEN YOUR MOUTH AND SHUT YOUR EYES

"Please gimme three cents worth of honey—no, gimme ten cents worth," said Johnny Bear as he walked into the funny little store in the woods.

"Certainly," said Mister Bags obligingly. "You get it for him, Nancy. I'm busy."

Nancy got a big spoon and went to the big jar where the honey was kept and took out the lid. The kind of honey that Mister Bags sold didn't come in neat wooden boxes. He had to dig it out of trees and kept it the best way he could.

"Did you bring anything to carry it home in?" asked Nancy.

"Tee, hee, hee!" giggled Johnny Bear. "Of course I did. Here it is. Just put it in."

And he opened his mouth as wide as he could, showing all his teeth and his little bright tongue.

"Oh, all right," laughed Nancy, hopping up on a stool. "Come real close now. Open your mouth and shut your eyes and I'll give you something to make you wise."

So Johnny came as close as he could get and shut his eyes hard and opened his mouth even wider than ever and Nancy took a big spoon and dropped ten cents worth of delicious honey right down his throat.

"Mmm! G-m-m! G-b-b! G-p-p!" went Johnny rolling his eyes. "That was positively the sweetest honey I ever ate. Will you give me another ten cents worth?"

"Certainly!" said Nancy obligingly, hopping down and running over to the honey jar and measuring out the exact amount. "Here you are." Just then Mrs. Bear came in.

"Why, what are you doing here, Johnny Bear?" she said sharply. "Get right down off that stool. Why, I declare, you're all sticky. You've been eating honey," she said suspiciously. "Where did you get it?"

"Mister Bags gave it to me," said Johnny happily.

"Gave it?" cried Mister Bags. "I did not such thing, Johnny Bear. I sold it to you. I sold you twenty cents worth."

"Where did you get twenty cents, Johnny Bear?" screamed Mrs. Bear. "I never gave it to you and you have not a cent in your bank. Let me see your twenty cents, young man, right this minute."

"Why, I haven't any money, mama," said Johnny. "I haven't got a cent. I just came in and said to Mister Bags, 'Please give me ten cents worth of honey,' and he said 'Certainly.' And after while I said to Nancy, 'Please gimme another ten cents worth,' and she said, 'Certainly.' They gave it to me, you see. Don't you think they are kind?"

Mister Bags sputtered until he could hardly get his breath. "After this I'll do like the Peman did with Simple Simon. I'll say, 'Show me first your penny.'"

"I don't know what you're all talking about," said Johnny crossly. "Will you please give me another ten cents worth of honey, Mister Bags?"

"No sir!" shouted the fairman. "I will not."

HE UNDERSTANDS
The poem below is proof that someone understands that a grocer's life isn't simply a matter of raking in the coin, but that for his day-in-and-day-out service to mankind he really deserves a niche in the Hall of Fame:

We could do without lawyers. We could manage without art. We really don't need musicians. Who tear our souls apart. If we had to we would liststep books! On poetry place a ban. But as long as life is left us, We will need the grocery man.

Yet we grumble at his service. While we howl about his bills; We don't stop to count his losses. And his thousand cares and ills. We don't see his many worries. Nor his troubles understand. Some people we can't live without. But not the grocery man.

SKILLED LABOR IS AMBITION OF BOYS AT SCHOOL

Survey of Inmates at St. Charles is Made By Col. Whipp.

St. Charles.—Ambition to be skilled laborers predominates among the 615 boys at the St. Charles School for Boys, according to a survey conducted by Col. Frank D. Whipp, superintendent. The question, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" was answered by every one but one who was undecided. Fifty per cent of them expressed the desire to be skilled laborers.

"The skilled labor class," Col. Whipp said, "included 28 carpenters, three bricklayers, one plumber, 13 printers and eight painters. Only ten per cent were being unskilled laborers. Sixty-six boys, or 11 per cent wanted to follow occupations that have to do with amusements. Included in this per cent are eight prizefighters, two actors, one wrestler, one singer, one acrobat and one animal trainer, one ball player and 23 musicians. Thirty-three or five per cent would enter into clerical work and 23 desired to engage in commercial business, including two who wanted to be bankers.

"Twenty-two boys desired positions with railroads or street car companies and 25 or four per cent were classified in the miscellaneous group which includes seven aviators, six soldiers, five policemen and detectives. Three would follow educational pursuits, two would enter religious work, one the political field, while one is undecided.

The average boy is fond of machinery and has an eye for new inventions. Col. Whipp declared, adding that out of the skilled labor class, 134 boys expressed their wish to be mechanics, three airplane mechanics, 9 chauffeurs, 13 truck drivers, seven sailors, one automobile salesman. One of the boys would be an undertaker.

"Of the three desiring to follow educational pursuits one boy wanted to be a master mathematician, one desired a college education, and one would be a civil engineer," Col. Whipp said. "Three boys would be chemists and two wanted to become artists. One had an ambition to be a seaman, one a newsboy, and two wanted to be bootblacks. Two desired the atmosphere of a cowboy ranch and one wanted to be a soldier."

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS

Lexington, Ky., May 14.—Their way made smooth by a series of conferences which lasted far into the morning, Kentucky democrats went into the district and state conventions today with a harmony gathering in prospect.

There seemed little doubt that contest between the McAdoo and Underwood forces for the presidential advantage would reach a vote on the floor of the state convention.

With more than 1300 delegates out of 2282, who will sit in the convention instructed for McAdoo as a result of the county conventions throughout the state last Saturday, the McAdoo managers claim there is little to be feared at the hands of the un instructed and Underwood delegations.

RADIO AVAILABLE THE YEAR AROUND EXPERTS BELIEVE

Improvements to Sets Make Wireless of Summer Use.

The coming summer, in the opinion of radio experts, will strikingly demonstrate that radio is not simply an indoor game, nor its use confined to the winter time.

On every hand, among manufacturers, among persons who already have sets, and among prospective buyers of sets, are indications that radio will be as popular during the summer months as during other parts of the year. In fact, year-around radio has arrived.

Perhaps the most important factor contributing to this result is that for the first time portable sets which are really portable will be available. Since last summer a great advance in the radio art has been brought about by the use of radio frequency transformers, and by the development of reflex circuits. The owner of a radio set who has enjoyed it so much indoors during the winter months can now gratify his wish with a portable set.

Last year, to be sure, many sets were called portable, simply because it was possible to cart them from place to place. But there was always the problem of where to put up an antenna, and how to make ground connections. With the advent of a loop antenna, with which the reflex circuit operates, these two problems are solved, and it may truthfully be said that such portable sets are portable.

A person may make a four-tube reflex set and put both the A and B batteries inside of the cabinet, fasten the loop on the side, and he has a set which is easily portable. They may not only be transported conveniently on a journey by rail, steamer, or motor, but may be taken in a rowboat or canoe, set up on the automobile by the roadside, installed in the summer camp, or carried on a picnic.

Can Use Loud Speakers

One disadvantage of so-called portable sets using an antenna has been the reliance upon ear-phones. These were both bothersome and unsatisfactory. With the new types of portable

GENERAL WAR IN BOTH LEAGUES IS FEATURING SEASON

Teams Bunched in Fight for First Place in Each Organization.

(By Associated Press)

A general war is on in the big leagues. Ruth and the Yankees are engaged in a classical struggle with Sisler and the Browns for first place in the American while five other clubs mix in battle royal for third position. The Giants and Cubs are fighting for second place in the National with Cincinnati one leap ahead and trying to shake off a Boston bull dog. The Bostonians advanced to within a game and a half of first place by beating Hoyt and Pliggras hard, while Shocker held the champions hitless until the sixth after which he breezed in under an 11 to 1 score. Georg Sisler got three hits.

Babe Ruth in a spectacular commencement setting which included a parade of marines and sailors and the raising of the world's championship banner, received his baseball diploma and then faced the cold world. The sky grad struck out on three pitched balls and dropped a fly in the first inning, but later lost his nervousness and was passed twice, hit safely and threw Sisler out at home.

Giants Awakened
The crack of a single from Pinch Hitter Terry's bat in the eighth inning awoke the Giants from a week's doze and they beat Chicago in the last two innings 6-4, after losing six of the seven previous games to the Phillies and Cardinals. George Kelly knocked in four home runs. Charley Hollocher celebrated his return to short for the Cubs by hitting a homer in the first inning and later getting two singles.

Cincinnati careened slightly in the first inning when Bohne missed a double play by throwing wild. The Braves drove Sheehan from the box before the inning was over and Genevich held the lead for an 8-2 victory.

Brooklyn won from St. Louis 4-3 in a contest featured by late inning rallies on both sides.

In the American, Boston improved its position by sweeping Chicago 12-0 and Cleveland moved into a tie with Detroit for fourth place, one game behind Boston by driving Walter Johnson from the box in a 5-2 victory over Washington called by rain after seven innings. The Tigers lost a hard 5-4 struggle to Philadelphia.

George Sisler's successful "comeback" prompted the Browns to release Fred Schlemmer, first base understudy of the St. Louis star, to the Toledo American Association club.

Cobb Hitting Hard
The veteran, Ty Cobb, still swings a wicked bat. He smashed out three hits in five times up.

Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals is overtaking Zack Wheat of the Dodgers for batting honors of the National League. Zack, who jumped into the lead while Hornsby was incapacitated, is having a tough time getting his base hits. He failed three times yesterday while Rogers smashed out his fifth homer of the season in two times up.

Ken Williams of the Browns, had a perfect day at bat in the slugfest against the ankle. Ken begged four hits, one of which was a double, and scored two times.

Catcher Vernon Clemens of the St. Louis Cardinals has been sent to the Milwaukee American Association club.

"As a Partner," a call to Christian Stewardship, was the subject under discussion at the devotional meeting last Sunday evening. Holland Horton had charge of the discussion. Many facts in connection with stewardship and especially thimble were brought out. A number of titheers told of their experience with tithing and why they believed it was the only Christian thing to do. The point was made that a Christian is a partner with God, that both are working for the same great end, and that all we possess really belongs to Him while we are only the custodians and users of this property.

Although I only found it out some three years ago, Florida is a wonderful state. I know it because a real estate man told me so. It is 600 miles long, 200 miles wide and three feet high.

It is bounded on the north by the eighteenth amendment and on the other three sides by the three-mile limit.

A raised map of Florida looks like a sheet of white blotting paper.

Florida's principal exports are fruit, vegetables, fish, cigars and hot air.

The greatest assets are sunshine, flowers, fishing and proximity to Miami and Cuba.

PAPER TELLS OF DEATH BROTHER OF DIXON WOMAN

Freeport Standard Described Accident to John H. Delhauer.

The Freeport Journal Standard of Wednesday evening had the following account of the fatal accident to John H. Delhauer, brother of Mrs. Ada Lindgren of this city, which was briefly mentioned in last evening's Telegraph:

His neck broken by a fall from a height of twelve feet, when a scaffold on which he had been working collapsed, John Henry Delhauer, carpenter, 526 West Addison street, passed away at 5:05 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of August Bussman, 642 West Chestnut street. The accident happened at 4:55 o'clock. The scaffold broke in three places. The fatality took place at a new residence which is being constructed by Rudolph Daniels, contractor, for Owen Bentley, at 642 West Chestnut street, where Mr. Delhauer and Thomas E. Fahey, carpenters, had been working for the past several weeks. Following the accident, the injured man was picked up by several other men who were nearby and taken to the home of Mr. Bussman, where death occurred shortly afterwards.

Was Ready to Quit
Mr. Delhauer and Fahey had been working on the house during the day and were about to quit when the plank on which Delhauer was standing broke in three different places. The plank had been placed on a twelve foot span, and as Mr. Delhauer attempted to walk to the end of the scaffold, where a ladder was used to descend, the plank broke and he fell twelve feet to the ground. In his fall one foot apparently caught on a brace which held the scaffold to the building and he plunged headlong to the ground, breaking his neck.

Mr. Bussman, who saw the accident came to the assistance of Delhauer and together with Mr. Fahey, carried the injured man to the Bussman home which is diagonally across the street. Medical assistance was immediately summoned while every effort was made to relieve the injured man. He was placed on a couch, where he received medical attention, but shortly after the physician arrived Mr. Delhauer passed away.

An examination indicated that he had suffered a broken neck, bruises about the face, and scratches received when he struck some rough clods of dirt in the fall.

Mr. Delhauer had been employed for some time by Rudolph Daniels, carpenter contractor, who was in charge of the house where the accident took place yesterday.

Born December 27, 1860, in Freeport, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Delhauer, early settlers of Freeport, Mr. Delhauer attended the public schools of this city. He was married and to this union were born five children, Mary Stella, Ada May, Dorothy L. Paul Raymond and Celeria. Mrs. Delhauer died in 1902. The children who survive are: Mrs. Walter Wall, Gary, Indiana, Mrs. Ada Garrod, of Freeport, Mrs. Dorothy Baldwin, of Hammond, Indiana, Miss Alla Veleria Delhauer of St. Louis, Mo., and Paul R. of Freeport.

The surviving brothers and sisters are: Charles Delhauer, Freeport; Mrs. Ada Lindgren, Dixon; Edward Delhauer, Paducah, Calif., one sister, Mrs. E. D. Heckman, of Freeport, passed away a few years ago.

A coroner's jury was called this morning to investigate Mr. Delhauer's death. August Bussman, a witness to the fatal accident, told of having seen Mr. Delhauer fall and of having run to his aid. The inquiry is to be continued this afternoon.

BIG GATHERING OF KU KLUX KLAN HELD LAST NIGHT

Between 3,000 and 5,000 Klansmen Met East of Amboy.

(Telegraph Special Service)

Amboy, May 15.—A crowd which could be conservatively estimated at between three and five thousand persons, gathered at an enormous outdoor Ku Klux Klan meeting about a mile and one-half east of Amboy last evening. Klansmen from Lee, Ogle, Whiteside, DeKalb, LaSalle and Bureau counties were present, the attendance far exceeding the expectations of the committee in charge of the affair.

A special electric lighting plant had been set up on the ground, illuminating the large field and at 8 o'clock Rev. J. William Coleman, pastor of the First Baptist church of Rochelle, opened the program of the evening with an address on "Klan Craft." In his talk he explained the policies and platform of the organization and made a strong plea for law enforcement. Following the address a class of about 100 candidates was naturalized. The meeting was the largest that has ever been held in Lee county. An enormous cross, 60 feet in height, was a blaze of fire that could be seen for miles around.

K. K. K. Ceremonial at Oregon, May 22

An open air ceremonial of the Ku Klux Klan is announced for Thursday evening, May 22, at Oregon.

In addition to the speaker, the advertised program includes a concert by the Mt. Morris band, numbers by the Sterling quartet and a fireworks display.

A class will be initiated at the close of the program.

SCARFS OUTNUMBER SALOME'S VEILS

Only Salome and mummies have been more swathed in scarfs than the ladies of the present day. A scarf on the frock, a scarf on the blouse, a scarf on the coat and a scarf by itself just because it is a nice color are component parts of every woman's wardrobe. The evening gown has been free from the attached floating piece of material, but realizing this oversight the Parisian couturiers have suggested, if they have not decreed, that one appear now in the evening all draped round with a separate tulle scarf.

In the accompanying blouse of printed Cheney Crepe the scarf can be worn open, in which case the collar is unbuttoned forming a V, or thrown carelessly over the left shoulder. The color scheme is brilliant green and white, the plain band of the trimming being a vivid green, while the same color is reflected in the square block printing on a white ground. Novel geometric patterns of this sort are very much favored for sports prints, according to Henri Creange, the authority on textile design. The shoulders droop slightly and the fairly full sleeves are gathered into a very tight cuff. The tablike affairs at the side are made to resemble pockets.

CHENEY

Song of the Fairies

By the moon we sport and play,
With the night begins our day.
As we dance the dew doth fall,
Tiptoe, little urchins, all,
Lightly as the little bee,
Two by two, and three by three,
About about go we, and about go we.

—John Lyly.

How to Deal with Common Natures

Tender-handed stroke a nettle,
And it stings you for your pains;
Grasp it like a man of mettle,
And it soft as silk remains.

'Tis the same with common natures:
Use them kindly, they rebel;
But be rough as nutmeg-graters,
And the rogues obey you well.

—Aaron Hall.

Birds

The woodcock, so black of hue,
With orange-tawny bill,
The thrush with his note so true,
The wren with little quill;
The finch, the sparrow, and the lark,
The plain-song cuckoo gray,
Whose note full many a man doth mark,
And dares not answer, nay.

—William Shakespeare.

SONG

Still to be neat, still to be dressed,
As you were going to a feast;
Still to be powdered, still perfumed,
Lady, it is to be presumed,
Though art's hid causes are not found,
All is not sweet, all is not sound.

Give me a look, give me a face,
That makes simplicity a grace;
Robes loosely flowing, hair is free—
Such sweet neglect more taketh me
Than all the adulteries of art;
They strike mine eyes, but not my heart.

—Ben Jonson.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUBY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves unhappy. When Nigel is killed, Dolly is left alone. He leaves Dolly in the care of his friend, Mary Farnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart and sails to America with him. Word comes of the sinking of the ship.

When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's new life. David mistakes Mary for his brother's wife and takes her to Red Grange to live with him and his aunt.

A letter comes to Mary from Dolly saying that she and her husband are safe. Monty Fisher tells David that Mary is not Nigel's widow. David says he has already found that out.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"You don't despise me, then? I—I thought—"

She covered her face with her hands.

Monty looked away from her bowed head. He would have given a great deal at that moment to have been able to recall those impulsively spoken words to David Bretherton. He was slowly beginning to realize what it was in this woman, who was not really beautiful, and not in the least self-conscious, that had endeared her to this quiet household.

There was something so womanly about her, something—He could not define his feelings. Impulsively he held out his hand.

"If ever I can be of use to you I hope you will ask me."

Mary laid her trembling fingers in his.

"You are very kind," she said, then turned precipitately and ran from the room.

This was her last night at the Red Grange. Already she had put together the few things she had brought with her, and packed them in a bag that bore Nigel Bretherton's initials.

It was one of his many possessions which Dolly had left behind her. She had cared nothing for the man; now he was gone she cared nothing for anything that had been his.

Mary sat down at the little writing table which Miss Varney had placed in the room for her. She took Dolly's letter from a locked drawer and spread it out before her.

It was strange, she thought, that Dolly's letter and Monty Fisher should have come so near together. It had been wonderful that she had been so long undiscovered.

And any day David might hear from Dolly. Mary knew Nigel's widow very well, knew that money was everything in the world to her, that she would leave no stone unturned to get anything she could from David.

Her only hope lay now in flight, to get away and leave no trace behind her.

She had meant to write to Dolly, but the dinner gong rang before she had written more than a couple of lines, and she thrust the letter hastily away.

Every detail of that last dinner was stamped indelibly on her brain—the long, beautiful room, the shining silver and wonderful glass, the paneled walls and gleaming armor, and David, the last of all the Brethertons, sitting silent and abstracted at the head of the table.

The delectable conversation was carried on by Miss Varney and Fisher. Mary hardly spoke, and scarcely touched the tempting dishes set before her; she felt as if every mouthful would choke her. She wondered that the emotion of her aching heart was not clearly stamped in her face.

She was beginning to understand now as never before why Nigel had so hated the ordinary suburban life he had been forced to lead since his marriage. She could sympathize now with the way his face had always Rayne appeared in a film version of "Romeo and Juliet" several years ago. Theda Bara was also starred about the same time in Fox's picturization of the same play.

Corinne Griffith was formerly the wife of Webster Campbell. They were divorced and now Corinne is the wife of Walter Moscovitz.

The title of Harold Lloyd's forthcoming photoplay is "Girl Shy." Johnny Dalton is his leading lady.

Charlie Chaplin's new leading lady is Lila Gray, and she is 19 years of age.

Dorothy Phillips (Holman) has a 9-year-old daughter. Miss Phillips has recently returned to Los Angeles to resume her picture work.

(This reminds us that when we were down in shipyards, her brother came down there to work—either to evade the draft or learn shipbuilding—but he never could learn so they let him go. He was a nice, well-dressed young fellow, but didn't know much.)

Enid Bennett was the leading lady for Charles Ray in "The Courtship of Miles Standish." She has just finished a part in "The Sea Hawk."

Win. S. Hart's age is 49.

Ruth Roland devoted only a part of her time to screen work. She sells real estate when she is not busy on a picture. She is erecting a 10-story apartment building in the residential district of L. A.

Carl Miller played the part of the young artist sweetheart in "A Woman of Paris." He is not very well known in the cinema world, although he has appeared in several other pictures. His commendable work as the father of Jackie Coogan in "The Kid" won him the role opposite Edna Purviance in the first-named picture.

Dorothy Dalton is with the Paramount company, drawing five thousand a week, whether she works or not. Her last picture is called "A Moral Sinners." Five minutes of that and one readily sympathizes with the Famous Players-Lasky who think it is cheaper to pay her salary and let her stay idle than continue starring in pictures.

Jane Murfin is the owner of Strongheart, the intelligent dog actor of the screen.

Blanche Ring is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Meighan.

John Barrymore's age is 42. Mildred Davis supported "Harold Lloyd" (now his husband) in "A Sailor-Made Man," "Dr. Jack," "Grandma's Boy," and "Safety Last."

The role of Sir John Manners in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" is played by Allan Forrest, brother-in-law of Mary Pickford.

Will Rogers' comedies are made at the Hal Roach studio, Culver City. His latest comedy is "The Cowboy Shiek."

(After one has seen the "Covered Wagon" the burlesque on same by Will Rogers should be seen called "Two Wagons—Both Covered.") But the first named must be seen to appreciate the second named. It is a little bit out of our line to savvy Jack Kerrigan came out of the River Plate in the "Covered Wagon" perfectly dry, probably that's another of the cinema's dry jokes.

Two of the best Paramount box office stars—Gloria Swanson and Thomas Meighan—have seen this week. Thomas opens in "The Confidence Man," in what he essays the type of crook role in what brought him his greatest fame. Gloria is seen in "A Society Scoundrel."

Mae Marsh has left for Europe to star in a big circus picture, not yet named, but which promises to be one of the biggest productions the Germans have made up to date. It is possible she may sign for other pictures over there.

It looks as though the stork is going to be a busy bird in Finland some time during the next few months.

We never see that clever little act.

Never mind how much you pay for a kidney medicine, if it puts your kidneys in good shape, banishes that backache and drives business from under the eyes.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and discomfort. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

David hardly spoke. Once or twice he half turned to address a remark to Fisher, but for the most part they were all silent.

When the station was reached the two men got out.

David looked at Mary.

"Won't you come and see the last of him?" he asked lightly. "I will do you good to have a little stretch."

Mary obeyed at once; it never occurred to her that David had no intention of leaving her alone for a moment. She never doubted that Fisher had spoken truthfully when he said that he had told David nothing. She stood beside him while Fisher bade him goodbye.

Fisher held her hand a little longer than was strictly necessary, she thought. There was a hidden meaning in his voice for her when he said:

"I shall hope to see you in town before long."

David was frowning when they returned to the car. She saw his face for an instant in the glare of the headlights.

"Do you know Fisher very well?" he asked abruptly, as he took his seat beside her.

CONVICT CALLED BY DAUGHERTY'S PROBERS TODAY

Bootlegger Prisoner in Atlanta Summoned By Senate Com.

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Washington, May 14.—The senate Daugherty committee today ordered the warden of Atlanta penitentiary by wire to produce George Remus, an Ohio bootlegger now a convict there, to testify before it.

Several witnesses have told the committee that Remus had immense whiskey operations in progress in Ohio for some time involving a number of prominent people. He is serving a two year sentence and it also has been testified that he has been given special comforts at the penitentiary.

Senator Harrell, republican, Oklahoma appeared before the committee in connection with charges that G. L. Miller, of the 101 Ranch in Oklahoma had not been proceeded against by the Department of Justice to recover lands which he was charged with obtaining by fraud.

A "great deal of political pressure" was brought against him, Senator Harrell said, because of his activities in seeking to get action against the Miller Brothers, J. J. McGraw, former republican national committee man, called him, he said, and "told me the Miller Brothers could be gotten off with a fine, if I would approach the attorney general on the subject."

The senator added McGraw "didn't get much encouragement in his efforts."

Detective on Stand
H. J. Burton, Ohio detective described an incident last fall when Herbert Little, representing himself as a department of justice at Pittsburgh, sought opportunity to make acquaintance with "Cleveland labor leaders." Little took Burton to a five story building, he testified and showed him files of information about Russia, revolutionary activities and the third internationale. The witness said that according to Little this material had been gathered by the United States government and "turned over to one of the large steel corporations."

"This information was turned over to the corporation so they would be able to combat the organized labor schemes and the anarchistic element," Burton asserted.

"What was this steel corporation?" asked Chairman Brookhart.
"The United States Steel," Burton replied. "Little told me he was drawing pay from two sources—the corporation and the government."

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

"FOR THE SALVATION OF OUR BOYS AND GIRLS AND THE RACE"

No sensible man wants his boy or girl to use tobacco because he knows it would not be good for them—he realizes to some extent the fact that it would lower the moral tone of his or her being, lessen the mental acuteness, deprecate the ambitions and stunt the physical development.

Yet we allow conditions to exist in church and school, in society and in homes that leads and allows a very large portion of our boys and some of our girls to fasten this pernicious habit upon themselves before they know what they are really doing. Should we have laws and enforce them that would protect the child?

"Dr. Kress calls attention to the fact that 'no city would tolerate the adding of some poison to its water supply, even if it was not introduced in sufficient quantities to cause instant death.'

To this deliberately poisoning a community to 'any' degree would and should arouse the righteous indignation of all right-thinking people, yet no second ranked poison known to man and by which that poison finds its way into the veins of our citizens as surely as though it had been criminally introduced into the public water supply.

And furthermore the danger it does is positively known to be considerable. Thousands die from heart disease and other diseases induced by its use. Children by the million are stunted and dwarfed in their physical, mental and moral development from this poison. Their accomplishments in schools, maintained at enforce public expense, are materially lessened and their efficiency for life, and usefulness to the community are materially depreciated. There ought to be and will be some way to stop this whole poisoning of the race.

But there is a popular error here that is fundamental. Work that ignores the adult user and directs its attentions wholly to the young can never accomplish much.

So here as the use of tobacco by adults is popular and practiced openly and uncondemned by the leading men in church and state, our efforts to save the boys and girls will be a failure. Example is stronger than precept, especially when example indicates that the precepts are incorrect. But how can we render the use of tobacco by adults unpopular? By showing the harmfulness of its use more especially to the young and the responsibility of the parent to the child.

Dr. Slocum said, "Every one who flands the use of tobacco in public is an enemy to the human race, in that he thereby exerts a pernicious example to his or his neighbor's children, which may in turn cause their enslavement in the vice and thus contribute to the increase of degeneracy in the land."

By the presentation of the facts in the case it should not be hard to show that it is disgraceful, yes, outrageous for a Christian to use tobacco and set such an example before the young, for if it were not for the example set by the adults, the young men would not learn to use it.

The adult is responsible for the whole tobacco business.

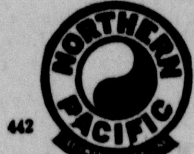

The injury done to our rising generation of boys and girls is chargeable to the adult user. Teach and plead with the young men, yes, but do not forget to lay the blame where it belongs. Show the adult the harm it does to both young and old and that he is responsible to keep his indul-

"Three indictments against its use: First—Tobacco has no health-giving action on animal life. Its effects are wholly disease-producing in a double and pernicious sense.—Dr. Charles E. Slocum.

Tobacco is, second—An economic work and a physical, mental and moral degenerator of the race, to be compared only with the liquor traffic. The tobacco trade will be found to be practically as criminal in character, as corrupting to policies and as disobedient to law as—The Liquor Traffic.

Springfield, Ill., May 14.—Oats made good progress over the state during the week ending May 13, in spite of deficient sunshine and cold weather, according to the weekly crop report for Illinois issued here today by Clarence J. Root, meteorologist at the local weather bureau.
"Numerous areas need rain for all crops," the report said. "Meadows and pastures vary and are backward. Corn planting continues although there has been delay from rain in some sections. Some corn is up in the southern counties. This crop needs warmer weather there. The remaining winter wheat has improved. It looks good in the north and fair to good in the south and central sections."
